Originally from Brooklyn, New York Vic started DJing in the late 80's at the early age of 13 and by the 90's he was old enough to play in some clubs. Vic was perfecting his craft when this new sound called HOUSE music came around and that was it he was hooked. Vic moved to Phoenix, Arizona in 1993 and got involved in its club scene. Fast Forward 20 years, Vic has an official podcast called Essence Of House which is available on Itunes and TuneIn Radio and has began producing his own tracks. Some of Vic's personal favorite DJ's/producers that inspire him to keep it going are Todd Terry, David Morales, Louie Vega and Junior Vasquez! Of course all being New York Djs them self. Vic followed some of these guys when he was coming up and they still continue to inspire his sound! With the launch of the CITY HEAT PRODUCTIONS Label and brand He is releasing his original tracks and helping new artists emerge on the scene!

Played before MK on the same night here in Phoenix in October and will be playing an upcoming night with Todd Terry when he comes to Phoenix for the 1st time this April.

Recently been invited to be a guest DJ for one of the only dedicated house nights here in Phoenix on a night I choose and to be the main performer that night. “Digital” DJ Vic will also be doing a live Guest show for Marquee Events in the UK and has been a guest on a few stations all around Scotland and has a couple of opportunities to play over seas this summer.
